If You Have Chickens, You Need to Know Our Poultry Goods

A few years ago the question of commercial fertilizers could be ignored. To do so now is to court failure, by diminishing your farming capacity and shortening your bank account.

Repeated trials have clearly shown that the judicious use of from $2 to $10 per acre for fertilizer (the amount depending on the kind of soil and the crop to be grown), has paid handsomely in heavier yields.

The increasing popularity of the goods we handle, whose different brands are suited to a wide variety of crops and soils, shows that we made no mistake in securing the Agency for Calumet Fertilizers.
